

Kelvin Thomson, MP, Member for Wills

“We all know that the world has plenty of problems. Let me run out some that come to mind without much effort: global warming, the food crisis, water shortages, housing affordability, overcrowded cities, transport congestion, the fisheries collapse, species extinctions, increasing prices, waste and terrorism. We scratch our heads and try to come up with solutions. It staggers me that so often we ignore the elephant in the room: increasing population.”

— House of Representatives Grievance Debate on Global Population, 17 August 2009

The ACT Branch of Sustainable Population
Australia has much pleasure in inviting you to an evening with Kelvin Thomson MP, the most ardent and eloquent speaker on the subject of overpopulation in Australia today.

Mr Thomson will speak at our

PUBLIC MEETING

7.30pm Wednesday
10 February 2010

Havelock House, 85 Northbourne Avenue, Turner

Mr Thomson will speak on his 14-point plan to stabilise Australia's population at 26 million. Bring your friends – anyone who's interested in our future should attend!

All welcome. Admission free, but donations to help defray costs will be appreciated
Further information: Tom Gosling 0418 294 342 or Giff Jones 0402 103 842